Our positive attitude in the global society

Hello, everyone. Last spring vacation, I participated in the Australian sister school exchange program. I remember the Australian students holding a welcome party for us on the first day. Maybe you could imagine that Japanese students talked more to the Japanese than to Australian students. At that time I thought that we should be more positive to communicate with Australian students. Although I felt a little nervous, I encouraged all the Australian and Japanese students to sit together and to talk about their hobbies, their favorite colors and subjects, and so on. Then I felt the seed of friendship budding between us. Two weeks later, when we had to say good-bye, we had become very close friends. I felt that I had fitted into the Australian society.
